passed away peacefully on April 29, 2025, at the age of 92. A man defined by his deep love for family and his generous spirit, Eddie lived a full and meaningful life that touched everyone fortunate enough to know him. Along with his parents, Selma and Carl Watts Reinhardt, he is preceded in death by his loving wife of 62 years, Martha Reinhardt; sister, Iris Wookey; brother, Phil Reinhardt, and granddaughter, Brandi Wycoff. He is survived by his brother, Roy (Kevin) Stafford; children, Ron (Barbara), James (Mary Ann), Robert, Richard (Kelly), Patricia (John) Head; grandchildren Ron Jr., Joni (Bret) Kennedy, Michael Reinhardt, Michael Ulrch, Brandon (Kelly), Erica (Gary) Seybold, Jordan Aragon, Ryan Head, Josh Head, and numerous great grandchildren, cousins, and friends. Born on February 3, 1933, just outside of Fowler, Eddie spent most of his life in Pueblo, the place he proudly called home. He graduated from Colorado State College with a degree in accounting and went on to enjoy a long career at Cliff Brice until his retirement. Family was always at the heart of his life—he even met his beloved wife at his mother's restaurant. From that day forward, they were inseparable, sharing 62 beautiful years filled with love, laughter, and adventure. Though he was never the loudest voice in the room, Eddie left a lasting impression with his steady presence and quiet strength, always content to let his wife shine. A passionate traveler, he fulfilled his dream of visiting all 50 states, checking Hawaii off his list in 2022. Whether he was exploring a new place or simply spending time with those he loved, Eddie embraced life fully and gratefully. A celebration of Eddie's life will be held at a later date.
