“ The author of the following is unknown, but struck us as something that Char could well have thought. (Though her choice of words may have been different).

Loss of a Mother

*Now that I am gone,
Remember me with smiles and laughter,
And if you need to cry,
Cry with your brother and sister
Who walks in grief beside you
And when you need me,
Put your arms around anyone
And give to them what you need to give to me.
There are so many who need so much.
I want to leave you something -
Something much better than words or sounds,
Look for me in the people I've known
Or helped in some special way,
Let me live in your heart
As well as in your mind.
You can love me most
By letting your love reach out to our loved ones,
By embracing them and living in their love,
Love does not die, people do.
So, when all that's left of me is love,
Give me away as best you can.*

Mary & Jim, I love this tribute to Aunt Char. I know how special you were to her. I am so sorry I did not get to visit with you at the funeral. I tried to find you at the reception but missed you. I remember fondly you and Aunt Char coming to my house before I left for college with a very funny gift. Do you remember? You both were an inspiration to me as strong women who can speak their mind and make a difference. I also remember you and Jim making time to take a starving co-ed out to dinner! I was so happy to be with "family" as I knew that is what you always were to Aunt Char.
