“ I thought this guy was hilarious, seeing him in Pueblo was definitely a highlight every time I visited. He was always well dressed and his hair never seemed to move. Perfectly combed and I used to compliment him about it every time we saw him. He also would wear a very specific pair of sunglasses that looked kind of big for him. He would wear these sunglasses while sitting on the couch and I couldn't tell if he was asleep. We would wave our hands in front of his face to see, and sometimes he would joke with us and then he'd jump up and scare us. He seemed a very happy person despite his age. The man also knew how to pray. I had no idea what he was saying but he was always really passionate about it. I will cherish these memories whenever I visit Pueblo. Rest in paradise my friend, we will miss you. Love your great grandson, Maximus Gonzales.

“ Grandpa- you are such an incredible man, lived an amazing, full and blessed life. So grateful to have you all these years. I'll miss your voice...strong and stern, your story's.. with the magic of fables, your strength... crushing everyone's hand on purpose as you handshake, the jalapeno in your shirt that you pulled out at restaurants to eat your breakfast, giving me quarters to put in the jukebox at Phil's diner making me play Joan Sebastian. Hiiijo laaa...., ay chihuahua!! I promise to tell your stories, and please tell grandma I'm so excited you are both together again! I love you!

“ The memories I have of time spent with you grandpa are the greatest gift you gave to me and I will treasure them forever. Memories full of summer road trips, faithful nightly dinners at Phil's Diner, Christmas at your house, your famous fried potatoes, and lots of love. I'll miss your funny answer every time I would call and ask how you are doing and you would respond with “oh, not bad for an old jalopy!” Grandpa – I miss you dearly and you will forever be in my heart.

“ John, Dorothy, Juan Carlos and Familia,

Phil was a huge figure and personality in the family. He left quite a legacy with his grandchildren, great grandchildren and great great grandchildren. Truly the end of an era. You were always there for him and I know he waits for us on the other side.

Its been 8 months since your death, My dear sweet loving dad! The day u died a piece of me died! My heart will forever be broken. U were so much to me, not just my father u were my best friend always there for me! I miss u. I have such beautiful memories and happy that i had the relationship that we had, u were my special gift that my sweet Jesus gave to me. I truly was blessed! The thing that brings me comfort is knowing that we will see each other again. No more tears or sorrow. I will forever love u and miss u my sweet daddy! I was so very blessed that God chose me to be your daughter..love u forever more!! 🥹🕶️
