Its been a little while since her death and I was to young at the time to really understand what had happened but the little amount of memories I still have with great-grandma are crystal clear. She was a sweet and caring woman and I can almost still smell the tulips in her garden. It might be late but I'm here to show the condolences that I couldn't share at the time of her death. Fly high GG.

“ She was a kind and loving lady. Her home was always open to all her kids friends. What kind memories I have of her. I am praying for all of you.
