“ I didn't know my uncle well, but it still seems appropriate to say a few words on his behalf. Jim was the middle child, and the younger brother of my Dad. Jim and Larry seemed to be polar opposites. I did enjoy how Jim could antagonize my Dad. We would get to see Jim from time to time at family gatherings.

Jim always gave the impression of being a free spirit. He lived simply in the Colorado Springs area. An attic or a garage or a trailer was just fine. Food or coffee could be had at a soup kitchen. For entertainment, there was hacky sack in the park. Jim had an appreciation for paintings and fine art. You could tell scripture and the Bible held a special place in his life.

I always wondered about the life that Jim created and what he thought of it. Was it planned or something that he fell into? What was he most proud of or who he enjoyed talking to? Would he change anything? In any case, It was his life and it fit him perfectly.

Jim- God speed and safe travel on your journey. -Willie
