“ This is my second post. But I miss you so much Jay I'm so grateful I got too know the sober you and too live with you for 3 months. You were a great dude and my newest and closest friend ive had. We had a lot of good times, laughs, real talks and good times together In Cali. I have mad love for you man and you'll always be a part of me. Itll be a long time before I can think about you and our memories without crying and I'm fine with that. It proves too me how real our friendship was. I love you brother my heart hurts over this loss. And I'll continue too pray for your family and have them in my thoughts and heart as well. You inspire me and I will continue too work on what we both wanted for ourselves. <3.

“ I will start my first message simply. By simply saying, I love you Jay, rest in peace my brother, and thank you for being a shining light in my life.

“ I have just a few memories of Jay. He and I shared a bedroom in California while we were both trying to get clean. Neither of us succeeded. His failure was unfortunately fatal, while I still have a chance to succeed. He was more than just a roommate to me. When people gather in such intense circumstances, they bond very closely. I grieve for his loss and the loss his family must endure. He was a bright shining star that burned out too soon. Jerry "Jay" Salinas, We miss you and always will.

“ There are so many memories I remember making with jay, we worked together, practically lived together and shared in many adventures. Late night pizza runs, hiking laughing, we got our hair dyed blond together by our buddy john for a hair competition, we would run into each other all the time across town to! Jay you will be forever missed love you bro!!
