Our dear pat loved to watch her soap operas, all her morning shows, and her cooking shows if there was paper in the house I'm sure there would be a written recipe on it. She had coffee every morning while reading the paper and the comics were always her favorite. If you ever walked into her home you would notice all the pictures of her grandkids, and family she loved them all and shared her love with everyone. Always made sure everyone was taken care of and didn't have a selfish bone in her body. Always putting her family first! She gave you comfort when you needed it, a shoulder to cry on, advice in the hard times, and a hand to hold when you needed to feel love. She loved to cook, and was a great cook at that. Thanksgiving was her specialty everything home made and made with love. She was great at sewing always able to sew the most impossible things back together. We all will miss those phone calls from her, and those sweet little hellos, those hugs goodbye when we left her house, and see her standing at the front door to wave goodbye. She will be greatly missed and forever loved She was She was a devoted
